TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

That of 1906 Was One of the Best Held in Several Years

THE ATTENDANCE WAS LARGE.

All But Eighteen of the Four Hundred Forty-Seven Teachers in the County Present, and Twenty-Three Not Teachers—Proceedings.

The Bradford County Teachers' Institute for 1906, which closed Friday afternoon, was the best in many respects of recent years. While the weather was unpleasant a good share of the time a bright, cool day marked the close. All the instructors advertised were present, and there were no disappointments in the evening entertainment course, which was of a very high order of merit.

All but 18 of the 447 eachers of the county registered, and there was beside an enrollment of 23 who were not teachers.

Wednesday Forenoon.

After the usual music and devotional exercises, the first period was devoted to answering quesies.

Prof. Albert answered several concerning geography; Dr. Lowden several relating to psychology, and Dr. Pattengill several on methods and English work.

The questicn of the excursion to Washington will be discussed tomorrow.

After singing, Mr. Albert gave "New Yory State as a Type-lesson in Correlation."

History by States.

This was given for the higher grades. Learn the latitude and longitude, area population; give a general talk on the geology of the state. The Mohawk Valley was called by the Iroquois the the "Long House." The Indian tribes kept this "long house." Erie canal was begun at Rome, N. Y. In 1620 begun the invasion of the Dutch; then of the English. The names of places, rivers, etc., show these traces. Irving is the best guide of the Hudson. From there and other stories can be given literature. Show the relation of industry to population. Thus any state may be used as a fundation for study of history, literature, nature study.

Dr. Pattengill on English.

"Greasing the Squeak," by Dr. Pattengill, was next, People will be judged by the speech which they use. Bad English will be betrayed at once. Speech which pupils hear will influence their later speech. Mechanical devices, like charts, may be used for drill in correcting common incorrect expression. Teach each week lists of words which are commonly mispronounced. Garage, chaffeur, automobile, asphalt, cement, either, program, al a carte, table de hote on, past, care, excursion, girl, were given to the teachers to pronounce.

The last period was devoted to the subject of rhythm, by Dr. Lowden. Rhythm is a sort of orderly wave, like movement, found in every department of life and the mechanics behind life. The factors in arranging a program, the child, the subject matter and the teacher should be considered.

Wednesday Afternoon.

After the singing, Prof. Albert gave his last address, "Whose Schools Are These?"

The American home if the greatest factor in American life. A man or woman in a house alone has not a home. The American public school is the next factor. For these both teachers and pupils are necessary. If every day at 4 o'clock we have put our pupils' feet one step higher toward truth we are great teachers. The schooi must bring the puipls upwar and forward. No boy and girl will grow unless happy in their environment. The schools belong to the boys and girls.

"The Literary Instinct in the Child" was Dr. Lowden's next address. The literary life of a child begins when the memory begins. Children like poetry. Begin with the simple things which they can understand. Connect the child life with the fact which you are teaching. Mother Goose attracts children. The next stage is that of the fairy tale. Then take up mythology, then biography, then history.

Against Phonetic Spelling.

Spelling can not be modified in our time. No matter what changes are made we will still come up against the words as they are spelled now. Do not teach the children the new list of modified words. If all English speaking nations should by a congress unanimously adopt a certain list of simplified words and this be taken up by every paper we might attempt to make such change. Spelling matches for districts, townships and county are good.

Enoch Arden.

The interpretation of "Enoch Arden," by Isabel Garghill Beecher with the accompaniment of Strauss music, was perhaps the most refined of all the excellent entertainments of the week's course. In her reading Mrs. Beecher displayed most pleasing histrionic ability and seems to have caught the spirit of Tennyson's great poem. The reading was a rare treat to the large audience, and Mrs. Beecher held the sustained attention of her readers.

Thursday's Sessions.

Though a dreary dismal day outside, Hale's Opera House was full of good cheer and hearty co operation during the fourth day of the institute. The bad weather had little effect upon the teachers who brave the elements daily as a part of their work.

The morning session was begun with music and responsive service. Questions were answered, first by Dr. Lowden, who then proceeded to take up his regular work.

"The Real Child."

The phase taken up was why children lie. The child is non-moral or non-self; the next step in his development is self-hood; the third is unselfing the child or making him altruistic. Selfishness is inborn. Natural selfishness and imagination tends toward lying. The senses do not see things as they really are.

Mr. Gifford of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, sang a solo which was heartily appreciated.

"School Discipline," by Dr. Pattengill, was next taken up.

Queries were answered first. Discipline is one of subordinate objects of a school. There should be discipline that the school work may go on and that they may become self-governing men and women. Discipline is not all. Do not announce rules. Learn the child's home life. Keep good health and spirits. Do not think that every little mischief is aimed at you. Have firmness tempered with kindness. Get the outside sentiment in sympathy with the school

After a rest spent in singing the remainder of the session was devoted to discussions.

Thursday Afternoon.

Dr. Andrew Thomas Smith, principal of the Mansfield State Normal school, spoke on "The Schools of Mexico." The schools in the city of Mexico are duplicated in the coutnry districts. There are four types of schools: the general primary, the normal school, the trade school for girls and the preparatory school for boys. These are government schools supported entirely by government funds. Nearly all the buildings are old church buildings. Dr. Smith then described his visit to each of these departments of schools.

Dr. Lowden spoke next concerning "Common Sense in Discipline." Discipline is perhaps the most important thing in the school room, but does not mean merely keeping order. Common sense in discipline is dependent on the child's life. We as teachers must keep in sympathy with the child. We must have poise. We must understand boys and girls and situations.

Quartet—Miss Stalford, Miss Balliet, Mr. Yetter, Dr. Poole.

"A Yankee's Creed," Dr. Pattengill. Believe in boys and girls. There are many stages in child life; the tootsy-wootsy, the young barbarians, the smart alecks, the has-beens. We are going to have better things and this will be a greater, better age. There is dignity and joy in serving others. Believe in laughter and love, in beauty everywhere. Believe in the present and its duties, the future and its possibilities. Closed by reciting "Johnny Schwartz."

One of the largest audiences of the week turned out Thursday to hear and see and laugh with the famous Baltimore American's humorist. Of those who came to be amused, it is safe to say that none went away disappointed, and for those who love an evening of clean, kindly and all embracing humor, the entertainment was a rare treat. Mr. Gillilan is a man who is funny because he likes to be, to whom witty expression come as natural as water from a spring. And he has a fine appreciation of the pathetic, too, as is evidenced in many of his more serious prose and verse.

Friday Forenoon.

The last day's forenoon session was begun with music. Dr. Pattengill was the first speaker.

"The Study of Current Events in School."

Women should broaden their lives by studying current events, and keeping up with the live questions of the day. The study of these in school will interest them in the study of civics and history. It makes better citizens. It makes good lessons in English. Get these events from the dailies, magazines, current event school papers.

Some questions on current events were given.

Dr. Smith followed, answering a number of queries before he took up the subject of "Adolescence." During this period of the child's life there are many changes. He reasons better and looks for ideals. The social instincts manifest themselves. A child's character is never safe until he is beyond this period. The trend of life for the future is in this transition time and

EMERY AND BLACK.

Men at Head of Lincoln Ticket Addressed Bradford Voters.

GOOD CROWD TURNS OUT.

In Hale's Opera House, Saturday Afternoon, Lewis Emery and Jere Black Expound Principles of Lincoln Party in Long Speeches.

A crowd which filled Hale's Opera House, with the exception of the galleries, was on hand to listen to addresses by the fusion candidates of the Democratic and Lincoln parties on the occasion of their visit to Towanda Saturday afternoon. Although advertised to appear, "Farmer" William T. Creasey, candidate for office of auditor general, was not with the party. The speakers were Lewis Emery and Jere S. Black. At the conclusion of the meeting, at 3:30 o'clock, a reception was held in the S. and N. Y. waiting room, when a number of persons were personally greeted by the two candidates.

The party arrived by the Lehigh at 1:30 o'clock and were driven at once to Hale's Opera House; music by the Geramnia band served to draw a good crowd. The chairman of the meeting was Dr. O. H. Rockwell of Monroeton, who, after the reading a list of the vice presidents of the meeting, introduced Mr. Black. The candidate for the office of lieutenant governor said that upon this, his second visit to Bradford county, during the campaign he could bring new assurances of the complete success of the ticket he represented; every day, to his mind brought new evidences of the weakening of the regular Republican party. This is as it should be, said Mr. Black, for if ever a state needed to rise and shake off its fetters, it is Pennsylvania, at this moment. And if the fusion ticket is not successful in this campaign the people will never get so good a chance again; the issue is not one of politics, declared Mr. Black, but a larger one—larger than any party or person. It is an issue of honest government.

Some Ancient History.

Continuing, the young orator referred to Emery's attitude in the house of representatives in 1879, and to the promise made by the Republican party during 1878, during Hoyt's memorable campaign, for railroad rate legislation. The same promise is being made in the present platform he said. He refused to discuss national issues, he said, because the fight ought to be one of state issues, which came home to the voters.

Success in the state fight would bring opportunity to show how closely in harmony the Lincoln party is with the policy of President Roosevelt; the Democrats in the fusion movement will then get back where they belong, assured that fair legislation is possible by the election of men in the state who are not bound hand and foot by "the gang." "If the president has no better supporters than the present Pennsylvania representatives, then God help the president," said the speaker, bringing laughter and applause. Closing, Mr. Black referred to his fellow candidate, Mr. Emery, as "the mild mannered man from McKean county."

Mr. Emery's Speech.

The gubernatorial candidate, in acknowledging the cordial reception accorded him, said that he was in Towanda to talk to Republicans, for he knew the Democrats were "all right." He said that despite the fact that he had been read out of the Republican party several times, he had voted for every Republican president since the time of Lincoln with one exception, when he was out of the country. He referred to Senator Penrose as "Quay's blundering successor," and declared that he was a Republican against "the machine;" he rebelled in 1879 and has been rebelling ever since. Like the preceding speaker, Mr. Emery tried to emphasize that there was no politics in the issue. And then he said that he did not want the vote of any one who would not support the whole Lincoln ticket. He questioned the sources of Stuart's support, and referred to Prohibition Candidate Castle as a pea-shooting builder of air castles. The Standard Oil company, said Mr. Emery, is flooding the estate with literature adverse to the interests of the fusion ticket, and he introduced several specimens of newspapers to show this to be true. He took up in detail the matter of the law requiring a state instead of a county and township tax for railroads and declared the law an absolutely unjust one, citing figures to show the small comparative amount of taxes being paid to the government by some of the great railroads.

Ths party left Towanda at 3:50 over the S. & N. Y. for Williamsport, where a meeting was held Saturday evening.

Towanda shops held out great allurements to the teachers after institute hours.

JUDGE CAMERON'S OPINION ON SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION.

Tioga County Jurist Decides That Act is Not Mandatory.

A wide diversity of opinion exists among the judges of Pennsylvania in the interpretation of some of the school laws of the state. Judge Fanning in a case brought in this county decided that in the first section of the act of June 22, 1897, the words "may provide transportation for the children at the expense of the respective districts," etc., should be taken as meaning "must" or "shall" provide, etc.

Now comes Judge Cameron of Tioga county, in an opinion filed a few days ago, in which he decides squarely opposite, or that the act shall be terpreted literally, that the directors "may" or "may not" provide transportation at their discretion. The opinion is handed down in a case stated against the school directors of Delmar township. The board had closed two schools, one known as the "Austin High school," and the other as the "Francis school," each a sub-district of Delmar township school district; "for the reason of small attendance of pupils in the said sub-district schools, and, because, in their judgment, the financial condition of the school district is such that the maintenance of these schools is not justified."

The first section of the Act of assembly approved June 22, 1897, reads as follows:

"From and after the passage of this act, the school directors of any district by the affirmative votes of a majority of the board duly recorded on the minutes, may provide transportation for the children at the expense of the respective districts to and from any school in the district in which the children have their residence, or of neighboring districts; provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall apply only to the pupils of schools which, in the discretion of the board of school directors have been closed by reason of small attendance. And provided further that it shall apply only to pupils that have a greater distance to travel or are placed at greater inconvenience than before said schools were closed. And provided further that the costs of transportation per pupil shall not exceed the cost of maintaining per pupil the schools thus closed."

Says Judge Cameron:

"The case seems to turn on a proper construction of that section, as affected, we think, by the first section of the act approved July 11, 1901, P. L. 658. This act simply requires every person having control or charge of a child or children between the ages of eight and 16 years, living within two miles by the nearest traveled road of a public school in session, wherein the common English branches are taught; to send such child or children continuously to school unless such child or children shall be excused from attendance by the school board of the district in which such person resides.

"This general law embraces all children between the ages specified and not within the exceptions, even if they are required to travel further or are placed under greater inconvenience because of the discontinuance of the school or schools they have been attending; provided they do not have to travel over two miles to reach the school or schools provided for them. o hold otherwise would lead to inextricable confusion and manifest injustice.

"It is our duty in construing these statutes to reconcile as far as may be the seeming inconsistences. That can best be done by holding that the act of 1897 means just what it expresses and gives school directors discretion in such cases as we are now considering, to furnish transportation or not as they deem best. As the person in charge or control is required by the act of 1901 to send the child, if within two miles of the school, it would seem absurd to say also that the school directors must furnish transportation even within the same distance."

BIG MORTGAGE FILED.

P., B. and E. Railroad Company Prepares to Issue Bonds.

There has been filed in the office of Register and Recorder Dewey a mortgage from the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern Railroad company to the Knickerbocker Trust company, trustee, for the snm of $20,000,000. This mortgage covers all the property of the company and is filed in each county through which the road will pass.

The bonds to be issued under this mortgage will be five per cent. 50-year gold bonds in denomination of $1,000 each.

Looking After the Boys.

The Hazelton school board has served notice on the proprietors of pool rooms that they must not permit boys under 18 years of age to frequent their rooms. Tobacco dealers have also been notified that they must not sell cigarettes or cigarette paper to school boys.

STATE AID HIGHWAYS.

State Highway Department's Statement for Bradford County

ABOUT $118,000.00 AVAILABLE.

Over Twenty-Eight Miles of Good Roads Applied for, and Two Contract for Construction Awarded—Another Appropriation Needed.

The public highway spirit has been aroused in Bradford county, and as a result 15 applications for state aid have been filed with the State Highway department:

Athens township, 5,280 feet; Wells township, 15,800 feet; Columbia township, 5,280 feet; Athens township, 9,900 feet; Troy township, 10,000 feet; Troy borough, 7,000 feet; Canton township, 10,560 feet; Canton borough, 6,430 feet; Sayre borough, 13,000 feet; Athens borough, 2,600 feet; Wyalusing township, 2,640 feet; Wyalusing township, 21,120 feet; Wyalusing township, 15,840 feet; Wyalusing borough, 9,064 feet; Wysox, 15,840 feet. Total, 150,354 feet.

This makes about 28½ miles of road applied for under the Sproul act. The applications of Troy borough, Sayre borough and Athens borough were forwarded direct to the highway department, the boroughs agreeing to pay one-fourth of the cost of reconstructing, thus relieving the county of any expense in connection therewith. The county co-operated with the other districts each agreeing to pay their respective shares.

Contracts have been awarded for the construction of the following: 15,497 feet of road, 14 and 16 feet wide, extending from the Tioga county line, on the Elmira road, to the New York state line. Contract awarded to Booth & Flinn, limited, Pittsburg, Pa., at an approximate cost of reconstruction $25,534.55, the state's share of which will be about $19,150.90.

15,275 feet of road, 16 feet wide, in Athens township, extending from the West end of the Chemung river bridge, on the road leading from Athens to Milan, to the North line of Ulster township. Contract awarded to Macafee Concrete company of Athens, at an approximate cost of $32,283.53, the state's share of which will be about $192,375.

The amount of money available for road building purposes in Bradford county until June 1, 1907, is $53,420.46. The 1907-1908 apportionment, amounting to about $32,223.82, becomes available during 1907, making a total of $85,644.28 for use until June 1, 1908, when the 1908-1909 apportionment, amounting to about $32,223.82, falls due, making a grand total of about $117,868.10 available until June 1, 1909.

From the above it will be noted that there is not enough money available to pay the state's share of the cost of all the roads applied for, not taking into consideration any applications which may be filed from the present time until June 1, 1909, and, unless the next legislature makes a substantial good roads appropriation, it will not be possible for the State Highway department to undertake the construction of all the roads petitioned for above.

INDEPENDENT 'PHONE MERGER.

Final Formation of Mammoth Corporation, Local Company Being Part.

One of the most important telephone deals in recent years, which may have a great effect in the near future upon long-distance rates in this and near-by states, was consummated at a meeting of capitalists held in Philadelphia last week.

The American Union Telephone company was at that meeting brought into working existence, the company having been incorporated at Harrisburg on May 31, of this year.

The new company links together by purchase and lease a number of independent telephone companies of Pennsylvania, Southern New York, Northern Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, and by extension, connections and betterments, combining these companies into one complete system of local and long-distance telephone transmission, which, with a traffic agreement with the Keystone elephone company of Philadelphia, establishes a system that stretches across New Jersey, Delaware and the states above mentioned.

Being made up largely of many of the existing independent telephone companies in the state, the new company will early perfect a long distance service extending from Philadelphia to Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D. C., and Wheeling, W. Va., in the South; Pittsburg, Cleveland and Erie, in the West, and Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, N. Y., in the North.

SMALL FLOCK OF WILD PIGEONS SEEN.

This Bird, Now Rare, to Be Found in Bradford County.

A Towanda man Thursday found confiramtion of a newspaper story that started in Northern Pennsylvania the other day, to the effect that a flock of the real old time wild pigeons were now located in Bradford county. At Weston, a small place, about 12 miles from Towanda, a farmer has seen a little flock of these birds, which seem to have taken up quarters in a big marshy field on his place. The birds are said to be genuine wild pigeons, and of the species believed by some authorities to be nearly extinct.

Old residents will readily recall the famous stories of the way in which wild pigeons were slaughtered by thousands during their flocking periods in the Fall. South Mountain is said to have been a noted flocking place for wild pigeons, and on one occasion, before there was a Lehigh Valley railroad, or any other means of transportation except horse or foot, a great flock of the birds arrived and decided to alight on the Towanda flats; the local nimrods were caught without shot, or bullet, and so nails were broken up and fired thorugh the old smoohth-bores, and even in this primitive way, great numbers of the birds, according to the story, were killed.

The wild pigeon is protected by stringent game laws and the season is not yet open for shooting them, though the average hunter will probably not be put in the way of temptation unless he hunts up the Weston farmer, whose name is purposely withheld.

A Wrong Diagnosis.

The gentleman who remarked in the grand stand at the Bradford county fair "that horse can't go any, he belongs to 'Doc Pratt,'" referring to "Major Ross," in the light of the Bloomsburg summaries, was a little off his trolley. At least, this is the opinion of the now triumphant owner of the Pratt horse.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

CONTRACTORS CLOSING UP TOWANDA RAILROAD WORK.

Bridge Piers Are Nearly Done and Grading Is Well Along.

Work on the piers for the new railroad bridge is fast nearing completion. The thirteenth and last pier is now up to the water line and as soon as the forms can be built will be completed, probably within a week. Mutchler & Son have had remarkably favorable weather for many weeks and have pushed their work with exceptional speed. The grading at the West end of the new bridge is being pushed out into the river fast.

Contractor Charles Kisner has the foundation for the new depot practically completed, and is digging for the foundation piers of the covered platforms.

In the big cut at East Towanda Contractor Dolan yet has a huge pile of earth to move. The South bank of the cut has been graded down its entire length, and a considerable section of the cut near the overhead bridge has been graded for the track. It is expected to begin the erection of the fair ground road bridge this week.

Byron McCloskey, resides.

COLONEL RICKETT'S BIG UNDERTAKING.

Giganitc Scope of Work Being Done on North Mountain.

The scope of the work undertaken by Col. R. Bruce Ricketts at his place on the North Mountain, is just beginning to be fully realized. Col. Ricketts has had a force of upwards of a hundred men and boys employed at that place for the last three years in an effort to locate there an immense electrfcity generating plant. The plans of Col. Ricketts are extensive and comprehensive and contemplate the flooding of the plateau of the North Mountain which is 12 miles wide. The plan is to dam up the outlets of Lake Leigh and Lake Ganoga.

With this object in view he has placed a large dam across Kitchen's creek, near the old Dodson mill; also one across Sickler's creek, a noted trout stream, and another near the Susquehanna Tioga turnpike to prevent the water from Kitchen's creek going dewn on the lower side of the mountain.

Immense Water Power.

From the level of these reservoirs to the point of location of the generating plant there will be a fall of 700 feet. This immense water supply coupled with the great fall, will give Col. Ricketts, who alone is engineering the scheme, a practically unlimited source of power. His source of water will be practically inexhaustible and with the immense storage reservoirs and the innumerable creeks the outlook for a generating plant of immense size is of the brightest.

A Fortune Expended.

In the work already accomplished an immense amount of money has been expended. Tons and tons of dynamite have been used in the clearing of the ground, construction of water courses, etc. The dam across Sickler creek is of solid concrete and for the purpose of securing material for this dam Col. Ricketts has put in a large cement plant. Numerous roads have been constructed all over this plateau and along the mountain side below it and a private railroad is utilized in the construction work. The generating plant is to be located on Kitchen creek, about a mile from what is known as the Iron Bridge near Red Rock. It will be of immense producing capacity and as has already been stated, will be operated under a 700 foot fall from the reservoir above. In addition to this fall there is a heavy descent to the river below and this fall may be utilized for auxiliary plants if occasion requires it. The plans have been carefully drawn up by expertts. Every foot of the ground has been gone over carefully and thousands and thousands of dollars already expended show the intentions of Col. Ricketts to go ahead and build a marvelous plant. The object of the erection of the plant is to supply electricity for light and power to Wilkes-Barre, Plymouth, Shickshinny, Berwick and the intermediate towns, with probable extensions to other cities of the valleys along the course of the Susquehanna.—Sullivan Review.

FIRE AT ALLIS HOLLOW.

Buildings of F. J. Green All Destroyed on Thursday Night.

Some time during Thursday night, while the entire family were visiting friends at Athens, the dwelling, barns and other buildings of F. J. Green at Allis Hollow, were entirely destroyed by fire, with all their contents. The fire made a clean sweep and not a vestige of property of any description was left.

The house was a good building; the barn was nearly new and was a commodious structure; the chicken house, granary and tool house was a combination building of solid construction. All the wagons and tools had been housed before Mr. and Mrs. Green and their daughter left home on Thursday morning for Athens. A son about 17 years old remained at a relative's some distance away. He came to care for the stock about 6 o'clock, and left everything all right. Neighbors saw the fire about 2 o'clock in the morning, at which time everything was practically gone.

will dpeend upon how you treat the child. Avoid severe mental strain.

The Teaching Spirit.

Dr. Lowden "In the Teaching Spirit and Out of It." This means to the teacher. Do not nag or find fault. Dr. Lowden closed with reading a selection of his own composition concerning this subject. Happy is he who is cognizant of nobleness. He who in his teaching remembers his own childhood days has the equipment for permanent success.

The Closing Session.

Dr. Pattengill with "Hints from Squints," occupied the first period, showing first some simple drills in teaching mensuration.

Who can estimate the value of a teacher's power? It should make no difference if a teacher does board at home in the matter of wages paid. Children can not be educated by stuffing.

"Waste in Education" was the next subject by Dr. Smith. One waste is an unnecessary loss in time. See to it we waste no hours when the child is susceptible, and waste no energy of pupil and teacher in doing things in an improper way. Learners do not know how to do things without being told in some way. Another waste in giving a wrong bent to a life by improper methods. The causes of waste are improper material and equipment; improper personal equipment, the imporper use of material on hand. Too many reasoning subjects are put in primary work.

Resolutions.

Reports of committees followed. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That much more instruction in language and composition should be given in the rural schools before taking up the study of formal grammar.

That the present plan of computing the school month is antiquated and unfair to the teacher, and that legislative action be recommeided looking to a change that will make our system correspond with that of adjoining states.

That the Bradford county teachers hereby tender the institute instructors and directors their hearty thanks for valuable instruction and inspiration and also to the citizens of Towanda for their cordial interest and support.

Dr. Lowden: "Odds and Ends.' We should know whether or not pupils think and how they study. Have odds and ends of time during the day to get among pupils and assist them. Teachers should be full of the subject of literature. Read only what the critics say are the best books.

Closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds.'

Kellogg-Haines Singing Party.

The appearance of the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party as the closing entertainment of the Teachers' Institute entertainment course was a most fitting finale to a splendid series. The Singing Party are artists of true merit. They have been trained by their talented leader, Madame Kellogg-Haines, and the program they gave was a delight and a revelation to their hearers. The house was crowded to its capacity.

Principals' Club Formed.

Among the most gratifying results of the gathering during institute week of county educators here was the formation, at a meeting Thursday, of a Principals' club, made up of the heads of the High schools of the county. Officers of the organization were elected as follows: President, Prof. I. S. Stetler of Sayre; secretary, Prof. Robert Allen, Rome; members of committee to draft constitution and by-laws, Prof. Rogers of Athens; J. H. Humphries, Towanda, and William Dennison, Troy. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the time of the next meeting of county principals, which convenes at Sayre, on the second Friday and Saturday of November.

MORE RAILROAD BUILDING?

May Be New Line from Montrose to Binghamton, by Lehigh Valley.

The remarkable industrial and construction movements of railroads of tis section develops new revelations almost daily, and gives a new idea of what may yet be done in a territory which was suposed by many to have been fully developed along commercial and transportation lines.

There is now a possibility that the Lehigh Valley company will construct an extension of its Montrose division to Binghamton for the purpose of making a more suitable freight connection with all three of the big lines coming into that city. At present the freight connections between the three roads is not what could be desired for the best handling of freight between them. The Erie and Lackawanna make their connection with the Lehigh at Waverly, where the congestion is great and there is little oportunity for effective work. The D & H. makes a connection at Owego, which is far from satisfactory as the facilities are limited and a heavy mileage has to be paid the Erie between Binghamton and Owego.

There is also a well founded rumor that the D. & H. is also making preparations to construct more repair shops and that it is probable that Binghamton will be selected as the most feasible point along the line.

In addition to this there is a report that the company will make extensive additions to and improvements in its lines between Binghamton and Ninevah as well as on its Pennsylvania division where announcement has just been made that the road will be four tracked a part of the way to take care of the increaste in the coal traffic.

A plan which has been under consideration by the company for some time is the double tracking of the entire Southern division of the road between Albany and Binghamton and the triple tracking of the road for a greater portion of the distance between Ninevah and Delanson.

While as yet it has been impossible to secure any official confirmation of any of the rumored improvements from the company those who have been interested in the land deals have been given to understand that the improvements which are to be made at the Parlor City, will eventually run up close to $1,000,000.

AND NOW ONCOLOGY.

Dr. Massey, Noted Surgeon, Explains Coinage of Word to Doctors.

Discussing the features of the profitable meeting of the Bradford County Medical society, a report of which was given in yesterday's Review, several local physicians noted the fact that the treatment of cancer is being rapidly advanced, probably as much so as any branch of the science of surgery. The operation performed by Dr. Massey at the meeting, although called by another name, was nothing more than one for a cancer of the lip. Yet there was no cutting, and the patient was not even placed under the influence of an anaesthetic; electricty was the means used, and after an hour's practically painless treatment, the diseased tissue was so thoroughly changed that a complete recovery is expected. The treatment was discovered by Dr. Massey in 1893, partly through an accident, and has been used with great success in a number of cases since that time.

In fact, so successful was the treatment that the hospital from whic the Philadelphia surgeon came, has been given a name which means cancer, but because of the prejudice that obtains against the treatment of the hated malady, a word was practically coined, and the hospital is called the Oncolgic hospital, this nearly obsolete word being an old term of Greek extraction, meaning the same as the modern word for the disease. At the Ward House, before he left., Dr. Massey explained his work to an interested group of professional men and others some of whom had seen his demonstration Tuesday afternoon. The visit of this scholarly member of the medical profession to Bradford county, although immediately of interest only to the medical men, is none the less of interest to every person in the county, all of whom are subject to the thousand ills to which humanity is heir.

Robbery Reported.

When they returned from church on Sunday last about 1 o'clock, the family of L. D. Mills found that their house in North Towanda, had been entered by sneak thieves and robbed of a watch, a small sum of money and other valuables. The home of the family is four miles from this village, and no clue is to be had. The Towanda police were notified Monday and are looking out for the burglars. A neighbor is said to have seen a man enter the Mills house during the family's absence, but was not close enough to give a description.

With eight newspapers of his own and 'steen million dollars all unanimously in favor of his election as governor of New York, Mr. Hearst ought to make a lurid campaign.

It is good news to more than boys and girls that chestnuts are plentiful this season. To most grown-ups the announcement will have in it the joy contemplative of stomachic comfort. Chestnut roasts are famously enjoyable functions.

Superintendent Schaeffer has issued a proclamation designating Oct. 19 as Autumn Arbor day. By the way, how many farmer readers of this paper know that they can get a rebate on their taxes for setting trees along the road in front of their acres, so much for each tree, we think it is 50 cents.

In a discussion by the Christian Endeavor society of St. Paul's Reformed church of Wilkes-Barre, it was decided that married men are happier than single men. It is a relief to know that this long perplexing question has finally been settled satisfactorily. This is a triumph, indeed for the Endeavorers.

The criminal who takes advantage of the love and confidence of his victim to administer poison in the guise of medicine is undoubtedly to be counted among the most depraved of mankind. Whenever the guilt of such an individual is brought home to him the extreme penalty of the law should be meted out.

Great Britain's great battleship "Dreadnaught," has proved her ability with her 28,000 horsepower engines to maintain a speed of 22¼ knots an hour. She carries an armament sufficient to equip a fort and moves through the water with a speed of a flying cruiser. It is a wonderful engine of war, and shows that if a nation possesses the "sinews of war" it can possess anything of importance to be used in war.

NOT AN HONEST DISSENSION.

Bradford county papers that oppose Mial E. Lilley for congress are making a great hue and cry over the outcome of the Lincoln party conference at this place. The Bradford Star says:

"The other counties had neglected to hold conventions, and it was anticipated that there might be some irregularity in naming conferees, but the Bradford delegation would not have objected had everything been done in good faith."

"Good faith," it will be noted, consisted in endorsing Mr. Kipp, as they were expected to do. If they had done so there would have been no objection to their credentials.

The facts in the case are that the conferees whose credentials the Bradford delegation repudiated were appointed by the persons and in the exact manner that J. L. Dyer, chairman of the Bradford delegation, suggested. If that method was good enough for Kipp delegates, why was it not equally good for Lilley or for any other man the conferees might name?

The Bradford delegation had a right to favor Mr. Kipp if they chose. But to refuse to co-operate with the other conferees upon the ground that they did indicates that their objection was of a different nature than the reason assigned. — Tunkhannock Republican and New Age.

A GOOD LETTER, SURE.

Whether candidate Kipp's letter of acceptance does him any good or not, it is without doubt a good campaign document for Congressman Lilley. It affords the latter abundant ammunition with which to fight, and he could make a strong appeal to the voters on the issues raised in it if he had nothing else. Mr. Kipp didn't write it, or to put it more accurately, didn't have someone else write it, for this purpose, but having sent it out by the thousands he must take the consequences. The Democratic candidate's letter of acceptance is good for a large crop of votes—for Mr. Lilley.

MR. LILLEY OR MR. KIPP?

The importance of continued service in congress is seen in the steadily rising influence of those members who have been returned term after term. It is the secret of the weight accorded to the small New England states for the last half century. In the House of Representatives, which transacts most of its business through committees, it is of vital importance that committee position be attained and that is possible only through continuance of its service. Even shining abilities have to wait for recognition in the regular way. A new member of congress is placed on the foot of the list on committees, and even at the foot he is placed on only minor committees. This is because propriety and custom dictate this course. Experience has rights which speakers are bound to respect, but a new member has no claims on the speaker's attention. He is isolated by the speaker, is ignored by the President and is turned down by the heads of the departments. Until he gains experience and the social prestige which comes from it, his constituents are, to a very great extent, disfranchised. Neither from the legislative nor the administration branch of the government can he get favors.

These are truths which the voters of the Fourteenth district should bear in mind. Mr. Lilley, his record shows, has already done work of the highest value for his district and his state. With the experience already gained, with his industry and his wide range of acquaintance with public men, the speaker, the heads of the great departments, and the President, he is prepared to do a great deal more than ever before. He is recognized by his fellow members and throughout the state as one of the most forceful and efficient memers of the Pennsylvania delegation. He has done excellent work and has rendered the public services which are entitled to recognition at the hands of his constituents.

On the other hand, what has Mr. Kipp, his opponent, the candidate on the Democratic ticket, ever done to entitle him to the votes of Republicans? In what way are his qualifications for the office superior to those of Mr. Lilley? Is he better qualified by education, by training or experience to frame a bill or vote understandingly upon it? As the representative in congress of this great and intelligent district would he be more efficient than its present representative in obtaining the thousand and one things that the constituents of a congressman demands? It is not necessary to answer these questions, for the most zealous partisan of Mr. Kipp will not insult the intelligence of the people of this district by claiming his superiority in any of these respects. Why, then, was Mr. Kipp nominated? The one answer to this question—the one that will instantly suggest itself to the mind of every one who is conversant with the conditions which led to his nomination, will be found in the fact that he is a man of great wealth. He has a barrel and will pay the freight.

The success of the Democratic nominee can be secured only by the aid of Republican votes. Will the Lincoln Republicans of the Fourteenth district enter into a fusion with the Democrats to defeat a congressman of Lilley's ability and usefuness? That would be contrary to the policy which it is well understood the Lincoln party has adopted in other congressional districts and which is intended to take national politics out of the state fight. It is difficult to believe that the party will enter into so ill-advised a movement. The return of a Republican member for this district is of so great importance, both to the district and the nation, that there ought to be no question in the mind of any Republican, whether independent or regular, as to which candidate he will support.

"RAPACIOUS CORPORATIONS."

The Athens News says President Roosevelt needs such men as Mr. Kipp in congress to support positive acts necessary to curb "rapacious corporations."

This idea of George W. Kipp, "our own" George, curbing rapacious corporations, is lovely. We think we see him curbing a few now. The suggestion of the News presents to the mind's eye a picture of president-vice- president- director- stockholder-candidate George W. Kipp with a big club in his hand, and a bloody knife between his teeth, and a lot of "rapacious corporations" laying around on the floor, some of them dead and others wiggling their last wiggle. The gladiator's coat hangs from a nail on the wall and out of the pockets are bulging shares of stock and certificates of election as president, director, etc. The title of the picture is "He Loveth Not His Own."

SPEAK UP, MR. KIPP.

George W. Kipp, Democratic candidate for congress, calls Congressman Lilley to account for voting against the bill which would place Philippine tobacco on the free list. From the fact that Mr. Kipp criticises our congressman for voting against the bill we infer that he would vote for it. If this is true why don't the Democratic candidate speak up and say so? Is he afraid to? Then why did he raise the question? Voters will be interested in the picture in this number of the Reporter-Journal showing the inside of a Philippine tobacco factory. The poor creatures pictured there are preparing tobacco to be sent to the United States, and you can hire a dozen of them for what you would pay an American workman. They would be competitors of the American workman if Mr. Kipp had his way and Philipine tobacco would be admitted to the United States market free of duty. Mr. Kipp is evidently in favor of this. Let him say so, if he dare.

MR. KIPP AND CORPORATIONS.

In his letter of acceptance Mr. Kipp tells the voters what he is for and what he is against, and this is a proper thing for a candidate to do because it lets them know "where he is at." He is for letting Philippine tobacco in free of duty for one thing, and for making the trusts and corporations pay more taxes for another. But this don't jibe, because if you let Philippine tobacco in free of duty you put money in the pocket of the Tobacco Trust. And the Tobacco Trust is a big one and one of the richest. When the Philippine tobacco bill was up in congress the Tobacco Trust spent money and fought for it, and now Mr. Kipp comes along and says he is for it too. But he can't be for free tobacco and against the Tobacco Trust at the same time. However, we are willing he should try, and will take his word for it and put him down for free tobacco. Candidly, we doubt if he knows exactly what he is for.

He says in his letter of acceptance that he believes the time has come when the corporations should pay more taxes. He did not say he believed the time had come when his corporations should pay more taxes, but that is what everyone thought of as soon as they read it, for Mr. Kipp is quite a corporation man himself. As a matter of interest to the voters we will name some of the corporations with which candidate George W. Kipp is connected. He is president of the First National Bank of Towanda, president of the Towanda Water Works company, president of the Bath Water company and the Albion Water company, both of New York state, president of two street railway companies, one in Canada and one in Jefferson county, Pa., president of a land company at Schenectady, N. Y., and is director and stockholder in several other corporations. We think we have not named all but he is so much of a corporation man, that it is difficult to get the names of all of them.

Now, it will suggest itself to the minds of many voters that Mr. Kipp is after the corporations in his letter of acceptance because he hopes to get votes in that way. His letter of acceptance is a convenient and safe place in which to take a fall out of the corporations. But Mr. Kipp is human, and because he is prominently connected with many corporations and has money invested in them, he is not likely to be a dangerous enemy of theirs if he shoud go to congress. Mr. Kipp's attack on corporations is a blast of hot air. It has no meaning whatever other than to put his entire letter under suspicion of insincerity.

IS HE AFRAID.

Candidate Kipp asks personal and pointed questions in his letter of acceptance but he is not swift to answer when questioned himself.

The Reporter-Journal asked him which he would vote for speaker of the House—a Republican or a Democrat—if he should be elected to congress. No answer yet.

The Reporter-Journal also asked him, inasmuch as he had censured Congressman Lilley's vote on the Philippine tobacco bill, how he would vote on the same bill. No answer yet.

Congressman Lilley asked him to join him in debate on the issues of the campaign and requested an early reply. No answer yet.

What is the matter with this man who opened up with such a long and high sounding bugle blast for reform in his letter of acceptance, and who personally criticised his opponent and asked him questions?

Has the cat got his tongue? Or is he scared? Or has the person who wrote his letter of acceptance been stricken with paralysis, or left the country?

Is Mr. Kipp afraid to meet Mr. Lilley in debate? It looks that way. But he should make some reply, if only for appearance's sake. Were the Reporter-Journal's questions hard ones for him to answer? Without doubt, but let him "make a stab" at it, and even if he fails he will cut a better figure as a candidate for congress than to close up like an oyster.. His silence is not golden, and some kind of a reply would become him better. The people are listening and it is time for the Democratic committee to speak.

Our guess is that Mr. Kipp sees he "put his foot in it" in the letter of acceptance, and is afraid to speak again for fear of getting the other foot in.

The world is not so dishonest as some people would have us believe. We are told that in the first four or five days after the San Francisco fire, when people could get no money from the banks many applied to the railroad for tickets on the promise to pay when they reached their destination, or when they could. They gave written promises and received tickets to all points in and out of the state. The officials took these promises to pay to an amount aggregating $60,000 from nearly one thousand persons. It is announced that within five months of the disaster no less than $53,000 or nine-tenths of the full amount, has been paid by remittances from the refugees to whom credit had been extended. Much of this came from grateful sufferers who had not even ben asked to sign a promise to pay.

Secretary Taft, having given up his work in Cuba, is free to step into that supreme court justiceship or lay his plans for the presidential campaign. Some annaouncement from him would relieve the anxiety of a great many statesmen and politicians who are anonyed by the buzzing bee.

Ex-President Cleveland styles the New York Democratic situation as "afflictive." It is certain that Mr. Cleveland would not assist by his vote in inflicting the Democratic gubernatorial candidate upon the state.

FACTS AND MEDICINE.

In his letter of acceptance Mr. Kipp takes Mr. Lilley to task for not voting for free tobacco from the Philipines. No better answer can be given to Mr. Kipp's criticisms than the following which is a special dispatch to the Philadelphia Press from Lancaster:

Oct. 8.—At a meeting of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' association today, it developed that the present season's crop is the finest in many years. While the acreage is about one-fifth larger than last year, growers are realizing from 1,600 to 2,300 pounds per acre and are being offered from 14 to 16 cents a pound.

At these figures the farmers will realize from $240 to more than $300 per acre for the crop—more than the land is actually worth. The crop will bring $3,250,000 into the county. Very little of the money will go outside its borders.

A resolution was adopted thanking Congressmen Cassel, Dresser, Lafean, Lilley, Smith and Wagner for their aid in preventing the passage of the Philippine tariff bill.

The above facts talk for themselves. They talk for a duty on Philipine tobacco a thousand times stronger than the Democratic candidate or the person who wrote the letter of acceptance can talk against it. How much would this Lancaster county crop of tobacco be worth if tobacco grown by half naked Phiippines who can be hired for a few cents a day were to be admitted free to United States markets.

We give below the resolution in full. We notice that it is also being used as a campaign document by the York county Republicans in their stiff fight on congress. It is not, of course, pleasant reading, for Candidate Kipp, but it is medicine for him and he must take his medicine. Tut, tut, now, Mr. Kipp, no crying or making bad faces. Swallow this, quick:

Resolved, That the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' society tenders its sincere thanks to the following Pennsylvania members in congress: Messrs. H. Burd Cassel, Dresser, Lafean, Lilley, Smith and Wagner, for the able and efficient manner in which they have upheld the interests of the tobacco growers and cigar manufacturers of Lancaster county, and in preventing the passage of the so-called Philippine tariff bill.

There, there, now. Here's a lump of sugar. Now, you'll feel better and get wise. And the next time you run for congress you won't come out for free trade on trust raised Philippine tobacco.

DID HE VOTE?

We have another question for Mr. Kipp:

The Democrats put up a great fight last Fall and elected Mr. Berry State Treasurer.

Did you vote for Berry, Mr. Kipp?

In fact, did you vote for anybody, Mr. Kipp, at the last election?

Did you vote, Mr. Kipp?

In submitting figures showing the popularity of living British writers of fiction a statician demonstrates that Miss Marie Corelli easily leads all the rest in the magnitude of sales, her latest book registering the disposition of 100,000 copies, while Mrs. Humphry Ward is a bad feminine second with only 35,000. As for Hall Caine, he exceeds all masculine competitors with 45,000 and Mr. Kipling must be content forsooth with a sale of 40,000. Maurice Hewlett, the most brilliant and fascinating of them all, trails along with an average record of 20,000. Of course in Miss Corelli's case the profits of this vigorous and pugnacious lady are undoubtedly swelled by the public school recollection of the commendation of that cautious literary critic, the late Queen Victoria. For the English cousin has a large bump of veneration and the stamp of royalty's approval is the making of anything in literature or trade. And yet there is no doubt that the English woman finds in Miss Corelli's literary efforts and scolding pronouncements a distinct fascination that makes her the popular writer of the day. In England, as in the United States, women constitute the large proportion of book readers, and that which appeals to women is reasonably sure of financial success. This is the more significant in the triumphs of Miss Corelli as compared with the sales of the books of Kipling and Hewlett, both of whom have an easy indifference to women and scorn of their gentle sensibilities which have not failed to awaken resentment.

CONTINUED ILL HEALTH LED TO RASH ACT.

Peter Hurley, State Road Resident, Takes Poison.

During a fit of despondency, which is believed to have brought on a state of mental abberation, Peter Hurley, whose home is on the State road about four miles from Towanda, attempted early this week to commit suicide by drinking a quantity of Paris green; this rash act followed an alleged attempt to set fire to a barn belonging to a neighbor named John Dolan. The latter came to Towanda to attend church during the 40 hours' devotion and was met after service by a friend who had hurried to tell him that an attempt had been made to burn his barn. Dolan started for his home as fast as he could and on the way he learned that Hurley had taken the poison.

Some time ago Hurley is said to have suffered a severe illness, followed by hemorrhages, which has left him in a weakened condition. It was not believed here yesterday that death would result from the dose of poison, and all that medical skill can do is being done for the unfortunate patient. The fact that he took so much of the stuff, very nearly a pound, it is claimed, may be the means of saving Hurley's life, for the overdose served to act as a self emetic. Hurley made a later effort to end his life by cutting his wrist with a razor but this was also unsuccessful.

BEAR HUNT NEAR CANTON.

Hunters on Track of Big Game, But Bruin Escapes.

Richard Kelly and Millard Fitzwater, both of Beech Flats, near Canton, had an experience late last week, which was like the case of being "loaded for chipmunks and meeting bear." The men started out in the morning to hunt foxes, the favorite pastime of many in that vicinity, when their dogs suddenly ran into a large bear, which had wandered into the domain of peaceful Beech Flats. The dogs immediately turned tail and started for home. Messrs. Kelly and Fitzwater took up the trail in the snow and followed the big tracks for a considerable distance, until most of the hunters of that vicinity joined in the pursuit and a regular hunt was organized, but not until bruin had put quite a distance between himself and his pursuers and night fall came and the weary hunters were obliged to give up in despair. Many times bears have wandered into fields near there in search of something to eat, and people in the remote rural districts often report seeing them.

Miss Lucy Jean Hoagland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hoagland, and John Maurice Francis of Buffalo, were married Tuesday at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Second street. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. S. Stewart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Towanda, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. The wedding was a quiet one, there being no attendants. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis took train No. 1 for a wedding journey.

They will make their home in Schenectady, N. Y., where the groom is engaged in business. Mrs. Francis will be missed from Towanda by a large circle of friends, who will wish for her and her husband every happiness and much prosperity.

Bullard Held to Court.

Lewis M. Bullard, a former Lehigh Valley employee but who recently has been in New York, was arrested Tuesday of last week at Athens and brought to the Towanda jail, the charge on which he is committed being desertion and non-support. Bullard came to this section a week ago, and was arrested by Constable Brougham in company with a woman who is not his wife. He is wanted on several other charges and was held in $300 bail.

Operator's Narrow Escape.

Miss Francis Bradigan, an employee of the Towanda Silk Mills, while at work at her loom on Saturday narrowly escaped a fearful death, and had part of her hair torn by the roots from her head. The girl had occasion to go back of her machine, and stooped over to adjust some part of it without disconnecting the power which kept it running at a high rate of speed. As she arose from her position, her hair caught in a shaft, and in a second of time was whisked away. Although badly frightened, Miss Bradigan was uninjured and strange to state, was unhurt. After resting from the shock the plucky girl insisted upon continuing her work.

In Warring Waverly.

The village of Waverly is again to the front, this time being made the scene of a remarkable battle between employees of the corporation trying to build a trolley line from Corning to Waverly, and the village officials. President of the village ordered the fire department of the town to the scene of operations to throw a stream of cold water upon a force of about one thousand Italians who had been brought to hurry the work along for the trolley people. The entire village population had to go out to see the fight, which is over a strip of roadway owned by the village, and over which the trolley company desires a right of way.

A Unique Outfit.

One of the queerest outfits that ever came down the pike came into Towanda Saturday afternoon. It consisted of a man, his wife and three small children, a diminutive pony and a still more diminutive donkey hitched to a small covered wagon. The wagon contained a large hand-organ, which under pressure emitted a doleful sort of music, and a cage of birds which were supposed to be endowed with fortune telling abilities. The unique combination attracted much attention.

The Heemans' Held.

After a trip to Harrisburg, Sheriff Parmalee of Owego, came to Towanda with the necessary extradition papers, and took from the Bradford county jail the two Heeman brothers, Henry and Francis, who are now in the Tioga county (N. S. Wallis of Owego.

KEYSTONE STATE LIBRARIANS MEET.

Welcomed to Williamsport by Mayor—Well Known Librarians Present.

With the largest delegation of librarians present in the history of its annual meetings, the Keystone State Library association gathered at the Park Hotel in Williamsport in its sixth session last week. Mayor Foresman welcomed the delegates to that city in an address Friday morning.

As the president of the association Miss Myra Poland, of Osterhout free library, Wilkes-Barre, discussed the library situation in the state. She stated what had been accomplished and what needed to be accomplished in the future. She pointed qut the future line of work and urged that the library question be viewed in the correct spirit—an educational advancement.

"Books for Rural Communities; Some General Considerations," was intelligently treated by Edwin H. Anderson, New York State library, Albany, N. Y. He urged better schools and better educational facilities through libraries for rural districts as a means of stopping the steady flux of country blood to the cities. The tendency to leave the country has become a sort of deep-seated question, and the solution seems to lie in the reading and school rooms.

Secretary and Treasurer Bliss issued a report in the general business meeting that stated that the association was in a good financial condition. During the year energy has been directed toward stirring up the trustees to the end that libraries might be more widely scattered.

JAIL DELIVERY FRUSTRATED.

Desperate Henry Heeman Would Burn Jail to Gain Freedom.

The prompt action and efficiency of Sheriff Job Griffin, Turnkey Ward and Constable McCracken prevented what might have been a conflagration of the Bradford county jail, and either a wholesale jail delivery or the death by fire of two dozen prisoners. At an early hour Sunday morning, Henry Heeman, the desperate member of the desperate family of "Pool" in this section was discovered trying to burn a hole through the wooden floor of his cell, and he had so far succeeded in the effort that a space about two feet square had been burned before discovery was made. Several times during the time since Heeman'e incarceration, Keeper Ward has thought that he smelled smoke and was unable to account for it. Also, he was puzzled by a complaint coming from the prisoners that a stream of water running swiftly from a faucet kept them awake at night.

Sunday morning Mr. Ward determined to investigate, and a thorough search was made of every cell in the jail. In Heeman's cell was found a strong smell of smoke and when his iron bed was moved the hole in the floor was disclosed. The Sheriff and Constable McCracken were promptly notified and upon their arrival at the jail, was unearthed one of the boldest attempts at a jail delivery in the criminal history of the county.

Tools Smuggled In.

Heeman was committed to jail during the first week in October, to await requisition papers from Tioga county, N. Y., where he is wanted for complicity in the burglary of a store in Lockwood; when he was safely landed in the Towanda jail several other charges were found against and he was held to court. According to his own statement to the Sheriff yesterday, this desperate man began to plan his escape the moment he became a prisoner, and he cooly stated that he would not have hesitated to burn the jail, if by that means he might have escaped. Carefully searched on his arrival, and deprived of anything that could possibly be used as a weapon, friends and relatives of Heeman's had smuggled in through the bars to him a pair of case knives, a pair of steel corset stays, a piece of iron bar, and even a part of an old lamp. With these tools, the prisoner had worked carefully, conducting his operations between the hours if midnight and 4 o'clock a. m. He kept the water running in his cell so that the sound might cover the noise of the gentle tapping as he cut the burned wood of the floor away. With a whetstone, also smuggled in, he sharpened his knives until when taken from him they were worn to the hilt.

But when he had succeeded in getting through the wood work disappointment met him, for he was confronted with a partition of masonry, under which, had he known it lies still another steel wall. Heeman's plan as told to the sheriff, was to drop from his compartment into the cellar from which he believed he could get through the residence portion of the building. He has been placed now in solitary confinement.

There are 24 prisoners at present confined in the jail, and they were in a most restless state of mind Monday.

MANSFIELD NORMAL HELD ALUMNI BANQUET.

Bradford County Graduates Eat, Drink and Make Merry Together.

The annual banquet of the Mansfield Normal School Alumni association of Bradford county was given at the Ward House Thursday evening, covers for 25 guests being laid. The banquet was one of the most enjoyable events of the Institute week, all of the guests doing everything possible to show their loyalty to the institution from which they were graduated. The banquet was served in the style for which the Ward House is justly famous, and at the conclusion of the feast, Principal L. H. Green, of Wyalusing, acting as toastmaster, after a few timely remarks, called upon a number of his fellow graduates who responded to the various subjects assigned them in an appropriate way.

The toasts rang with Normal sentiment and mingled much merriment with pleasant memories.

Dr. Andrew Thomas Smith, principal of the Mansfield Normal and one of the instructors of the Institute, was prevented, by previous imperative plans, from attending the banquet. However, Prof. F. E. Gaige of the Mansfield faculty, was present as a direct representative of the school and brought to the alumni splendid reports of their Alma Mater.

The association was more thoroughly organized, new officers being elected, as follows:

President, L. H. Green; vice presidents, Ralph Jennings, Miss Augusta Fulford, and Miss Adeline Thurston; secretary, Miss Christene Reeves.

Plans for taking more active steps in upholding the Mansfield Normal were discussed, and all members of the association look forward with pleasant anticipations to the holding of the next annual meeting, which will again be returned to Towanda.

INTERSCHOLASTIC ATHLETIC LEAGUE.

Formation Thursday of New Association Will Interest School Boys.

For several years there has been, among the athletically inclined High school students, a strong, but undirected desire to have some kind of an athletic league, which would embrace the Bradford county schools. The end sought now bids fair to become a realtity, and at a meeting of High school principals held Thrusday afternoon in the court house steps were taken which will undoubtedly result in a Bradford County Interscholastic Athletic League.

Principal Rogers of Athens, because of having come from a school where such a league existed, is one of the prime movers in the matter.

The idea is to have an annual field day or "meet," with prizes for winners of various events. High school foot ball, base ball, and other contests are also a part of the plan. A committee was named to draw up plans for a constitution and report at another meeting. The committee is made up of Prof. James A. Christiansen, of Canton, Prof. J. H. Humphries, Towanda, Prof. F. S. Woolson, Camptown, and Prof. Rogers of Athens.

NOMINATIONS ARE INVALID.

Neither Lilley or Kipp Allowed to Go on Lincoln Ticket.

The court of Dauphin county decided on Thursday that neither Mial E. Lilley or George W. Kipp had been nominated in accordance with the rules of the Lincoln-Republican state committee. This decision bar the candidates from appearance on the Lincoln-Republican ticket by virtue of a certificate of nomination. Both candidates have filed nomination papers. As to which one, if either, can have his name on the Lincoln-Republican ticket by virtue of nomination papers will be decided by the same court on Saturday, Oct. 20.

There are decisions pending in cases similar to this from several districts, and it is the opinion of lawyers who are familiar with them that the decision of the court on Oct. 20 is more than likely to be that neither Mr. Lilley or Mr. Kipp will be allowed a place on the Lincoln-Republican ticket.

In that event the Lincoln-Republican party of the Fourteenth district have no candidate for congress.

NO PUNISHMENT FOR UNRULY FOREIGNERS.

Through a Technicality, Italian Shooters Escape, Though Identified.

Because of a technicality arising from the improper identification of one of the prisoners, the Italian who did the shooting at the steam shovel, and stopped the work of a gang of men several days ago, went scot free at a hearing held before Justice Meredith on Oct. 9, which was one of the most entertaining sessions held in that court in some time. One of the warmest tilts came between Contractor John Dolan and Attorney D. E. Kaufman.

Morgue Jenny and James Crow were the names of the foreigners arrested on the charge, and Joseph Cringle, an American workman, identified Jenny as the man who threatened his life. This was an error on the part of the witness, and Attorney Kaufman saw the chance, grasped it, and against the protestation of S. Bergen Park, for the prosecution, the justice was obliged to yield the point. Contractor John Dolan and Foreman John Welsh were mystified at this demonstration of Pennsylvania law and told the court and attorneys that they were.

The Postal Card Craze.

Some idea of the development of the postal card craze may be had from the increase of the sales of one-cent stamps at the Lancaster post-office, September being taken for comparison. They were, 50,664 cards in 1903; 56,759 in 1904; 104,669 in 1905, and 135,000 in 1906. New Jersey takes the lead in the states in the number of one-cent stamps sold, because of the large number of seaside resorts, from which souvenir cards went out by the ton. The craze has put the money into Uncle Sam's pockets.

Sore Throat Wisdom

If every mother could realize the real danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

A STEP FORWARD.

Permanent Enlargement of The Daily Review is Made.

A step forward has been taken by the publishers of The Daily Review in the form of a permanent enlargement of Bradford county's favorite daily paper to six pages of six columns each. This gives eight additional columns and provides long needed room for advertising space and news matter.

The new form will be compact and it is believed will meet the approval of its many subscribers, to whom it has become a household necessity. It will enable the publishers to better care for its already liberal advertising patronage and provides for that increase in publicity that is sure to follow.

ANOTHER LAQUIN FIRE.

Chemical Company's Charcoal Sheds Were Badly Damaged.

The charocal sheds of the Barclay Chemical company's works at Laquin, on the Susquehanna and New York railroad, were destroyed by fire Friday night, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars. The fire was started by ignition from the hot charcoal, many tons of which are stored in the great sheds erected for the purpose. The works themselves were not damaged.

The fire, following so soon after the burning of the Stave company's storage sheds, a few nights before, naturally created a great deal of excitement, though the absence of high wind prevented the fire from becoming nearly so menacing as the stave shed fire.

A Pleasant Affair.

The dancing party given by the Germania band in the handsome St. Agnes hall on Friday evening in honor of the teachers attending the institute, was a largely attended and very pleasant gathering of young people of the county. Many came especially from Athens, Troy, Rome and elsewhere and even Towanda society was well represented. The hall, which seems nearly as large as some armories, is one of the finest assembly places in the county.

REPUBLICAN EDITORS STAND BY THEIR GUNS.

Repudiate Misleading and False Statements of Emery Combination.

A significant feature of the present campaign in Pennsylvania is the enthusiastic and loyal support which is being given to the Republican ticket by the Republican editors of the commonwealth.

Without exception they are heartily and earnestly working for the election of Edwin S. Stuart and all of his colleagues on the Republican ticket, and they are giving magnificent support to the Republican nominees for congress, who are to be sent to Washington to sustain President Roosevelt's administration and to aid him in carrying out the many popular policies which he has recently inaugurated and which he has determined shall be pushed to fulfillment at the earliest possible moment.

Here are some timely expressions from Republican editors of this state upon live issues of the present campaign:

Are Growing Desperate.

The leaders and organs of the fusion candidates in this state and particularly in this district and county, are growing desperate, remarks the editor of the Washington Observer. They see defeat staring them in the face. They see the sentiment growing stronger daily for the Republican ticket and the Republican principles. They are using desperate tactics in a desperate cause. Falsehoods and misrepresentations are following each other in quick succession. Their methods of attack are despicable and have turned many who were formerly in sympathy with them to the support of the Republican ticket. The Republican party and its candidates are conducting a clean, decent campaign. They are making votes. The issues are clearly presented and the people are beginning to see most clearly the motives which characterize the attacks on decent men—because they are Republicans. The refusal of many of the Democrats to swallow the hybrid ticket in the district and in the county is also making the leaders desperate, and like Hearst, of New York, they are beginning to call men of their own party vile names. Keep it up, the better it will be for the Republican party. It makes votes—because it disgusts honest and decent voters.

Must Be Harmony For Results.

We submit that the Republican Governor with a Republican legislature can produce more substantive legislation than a fusion governor with the same legislature, says the editor of the Titusville Herald. Excellence in the administration of state affairs demands harmony, which can exist only through the election of Edwin S. Stuart to the Governor's chair.

There can be shown no reason why a single Republican should desert his party this fall to follow Lewis Emery, Jr., who was never a Republican unless to satisfy his own selfish, self-centered ambitions.

A Manly Statement.

Governor Pennypacker's frank and manly statement in regard to the expenditures for the state capitol is convincing enough in itself to all candid citizens, that not a single dollar has been wasted or misappropiated, says the editor of the Oil City Derrick. But Mr. Stuart, who is in no way connected with the building of the structure, has promised to take the question up and will give it full investigation. In his speech at Greenville he added the following plank to the Republican party platform:

"If elected Governor, I promise you fully realizing the responsibility resting upon me, that I will see that a thorough investigation shall be made of the entire question, and if such investigation discloses that any man or set of men have been guilty of wrong-doing in the abuse of their trust, or guilty of fraud or illegal profit in the furnishing of supplies, they shall meet with the punishment they surely, under such circumstances, would justly deserve."

This should be fully satisfactory to those who have been disposed to question the action of the building committee in expending such immense sums in furnishing and decorating the capitol. But it is clear that the members did not exceed their powers, and that they were acting in strict accord with the law. Ten years hence, when the fame of this magnificent building becomes more general and the work of these men becomes better recognized, what they did for the people in giving them a capitol, worthy the honor and dignity of the state, will be pointed at as the proudest achievement of their lives.

The Overshadowing Issue.

It will not do for opponents of the Republican state ticket to plead for voters on the theory that the election of next November is important as to this year only, exclaims the editor of the Brockwayville Record. This is the direct and immediate question, but 1908 presents the overshadowing issue. No sincere Republican wants a Democrat sent to the White House two years from now. Some Republicans who claim to be sincere say that they will vote this year for Emery, the Democratic nominee, against Stuart, the Republican candidate for Governor, and when they vote for Emery they line up for the whole Democratic state ticket. Yet it is axiomatic that you can't contribute to the election of a Republican President by electing the Democratic tickets in the several states. Politics don't operate that way. Judge Parker, the last Democratic candidate, since the election of 1904, has repeatedly said that the way to put a Democrat in the White House is to carry the smaller political divisions, the township, the ward, the city, the county and then the state.

That is the way to do it, and if the true and loyal Republicans of Pennsylvania want to elect a Republican in 1908 for President, they must not make the mistake this year of fortifying Democratic strength by voting for the Democratic nominee for Governor. To do that is to invite a Democratic triumph and Democratic victory in the nation is sure to spell disaster.

A WHIRLWIND FINISH.

Pennsylvania Republicans to Close Campaign With Big Guns.

Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican State Committee, has planned a whirlwind finish for the Republican state campaign.

After several conferences with Chairman J. S. Sherman, of the Republican congressional committee, he has mapped out a schedule of mass meetings in different parts of the state at which many speakers of national prominence will make addresses in support of Edwin S. Stuart for Governor and his colleagues on the state ticket, and for the Republican candidates for Congress.

The fact that Pennsylvania now has the largest delegation of any state of Republican members of the House of Representatives makes this an important political battle ground, and President Roosevelt has expressed him self upon several occasions upon the importance of rousing Republicans of Pennsylvania so that there shall be no congressional losses next month.

He realizes that the fusion campaigns in Pennsylvania and New York are likely to interfere seriously with the plans of the Republican managers for the election of Congressmen. He dwelt particularly upon this phase of the situation when he had Chairman Sherman and Senator Penrose at the White House recently to go over the general political situation.

The President has requested Secretary of the Treasury Shaw to make at least two speeches in Pennsylvania, and he may make others, although up to date he has been scheduled for but two.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, Speaker of the National House, is billed for two Pennsylvania speeches, and Senator Beveridge for two. Congressman Watson, of Indiana, member of the ways and means committee of Congress, is among others who have been assigned by the national congressional committee to make addresses in Pennsylvania for the whole Republican ticket between now and November 6.

It isn't necessary to let the city rub the natural bloom from your boy and girl in order that they may become acquainted with the ways of the world.

During the hunting season it is pretty hard to round up a trespasser and be supported by the law unless there is absolute proof. That means fences up in good shape and patrol duty on your part.

The raising of alfalfa in the eastern states has not thus far proved a success, though there is reason to hope for better results and that the difficulties of soil and cultivation may be overcome.

A great deal of loss is sustained after the harvest is begun, but not finished, by the fall rains which come on. It isn't always easy to overcome this condition and prevent the grain and straw from being blown about. Keep things in shape as far as possible.

A good deal of uncalled for disorder and damage could be prevented by refusing to allow the children to make a playground of the barn or workshop. It is quite as often the visiting children from the neighborhood who make the trouble as your own. Fires often originate in this way.

When possible take your consignment of cattle to market yourself. This gives you an opportunity to compare them with others and criticise them from the standpoint of the market and will enable you to profit by past experience. In fat cattle weight does not count for as much as quality and condition.

Some people's front yards remind one of an overtrimmed woman's dress—the beauty and symmetry of the lawn are marred by an overabundance of small flower beds, flowering bushes and shrub trees. When first put out these seem all right, but after a season or two of growth you have more than you bargained for.

A recent bulletin issued by the Nebraska experiment station corrects the impression which has gained credence in some quarters to the effect that a solution of copper sulphate mixed with the feed of hogs will render them immune to cholera. Experiments carefully conducted show that every hog out of a pen so immunized died of the plague within a short time.

Strange it is that until within a year or two it should have been entirely left to individual interest and enterprise in this country to effect along the line of raising pure bred horses what has been accomplished by government breeding in many European countries for decades past. Within the past year two government studs have been started, and it is expected that much benefit will result therefrom.

The raising of the thoroughbred boy and girl is a proposition that brings a more permanent satisfaction than that which can be measured by the size of the pocketbook. Many the parent who realizes too late that filial love and regard cannot be measured, much less bought, with dollars and cents and that, though rich in point of material wealth, in this other respect he is most abject, poor and destitute.

The fellow who will loaf around during the summer and wear his trousers out sitting on dry goods boxes when there is an urgent call for help to do the simplest kind of work at $2 per day is quite likely to be in the list of those whose wives will have to take in washing for a living next winter. There should be a law compelling chaps of this kind to get busy or go to jail. A municipal stone pile would be one way out.

A number of potato growers will this fall have to mow the weeds in their fields before they can get at or even locate their crop. A suggestion made some weeks ago is worth trying, that of sowing buckwheat about July 1, the time when the weeds begin to get their start. The buckwheat grows rapidly, occupies the ground as the potato vines wither and die and can be cut before the potatoes are dug in the fall. This treatment strangles the weeds and at the same time results in two crops from the same piece of land.

In picking out a pony for the children's use and pleasure hesitate before taking one that has seen much active service unless you know its history. A pony after having passed through many hands often acquires bad habits and a mean and vicious disposition, and the children instead of cultivating a gentle manner will soon learn that the only way that they can get the pony to do what they want is through harsh and cruel treatment, which in time becomes a habit with the children. The pony is capable of educating the child quite as much as the child trains the pony.

If the farm raises but an average of thirty bushels of corn per acre and has nothing but scrub cattle and horses, a bright boy cannot be blamed much if he runs away.

There is no time in the season when cattle will eat cornstalks cleaner than during October, when the starch in them has been turned to sugar. In the case of sweet corn particularly they will eat every whit.

GRAPE SEEDS.

In Europe the seeds of the grape have various economic uses. In the form of seeds they are fed to the horses and cattle the same as grain and are valued more highly than oats; ground up, they are substituted for coffee; crushed, they furnish a high grade oil, which ranks next to and is used similarly to olive oil; besides oil the seeds yield tannin, valuable for tanning and other purposes. The day has come when there is little wasted, and the byproducts as well as the product itself are made to yield an income.

In addition to furnishing an unsightly spectacle along the highway, it is well to remember that if weeds are allowed to stand they will be a catch for the snow and are likely to make bad roads. This is one instance in which beauty and utility seem to go hand in hand.

Those who live in towns and cities and are unused to the growing of things and of seeing them in their native state are slow to buy unless nuts, fruits and grains are polished to an artificial brightness or treated in such a way as to make them more attractive to the eye. Appearance comes first, then quality.

Reports from the department of agriculture based on crop conditions existing Aug. 1 place the corn crop of the country at 2,713,194,000 bushels, which is the largest on record and exceeds the big crop of last year by 5,000,000 bushels. And the passage of September without a frost has changed this yield from possibility to fact.

Before marketing the potatoes this fall go through and carefully sort as to size and quality. A uniform grade will command a better price and sell more readily than when the large and small, good and bad are all mixed together. When potatoes are too small to make it worth while to try to sell, they can be fed out at home with profit.

The tendency of farming in our country is from the extensive to the intensive method, from the cry of "more land" with a greater acreage of crops to the call for "better land" with greater production to the acre. However, the extensive method has not been without its compensations, as large fortunes have been realized from the increase in value of land.

Some people sell milk, cream, butter and eggs all the year around, but yet they never have anything better than skim milk to drink or use in their coffee and are ever looking with a saving eye as to how little butter they can use or how few eggs they can get along with. These pepole forego as luxuries the very things which their patrons regard as necessities and work so hard to get. Folk's economies take queer turns sometimes.

Never before in the history of the country have the railroads been confronted with so stupendous a task in the matter of handling the enormous crops which have been raised as they will have to tackle this fall. While most roads have made large additions to their rolling stock in the way of new and large capacity, engines and freight cars, yet it is questionable if it will be sufficient to keep pace with the increased yield of the myriad farms of the country.

Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock is authority for the statement that, including the irrigation projects now under construction, those which are contemplated and those approved, but not begun, there will have been spent by June 30, 1908, $37,000,000, and that the estimated receipts from the operation of the law up to that time will be about $500,000 more than the amount named. Besides, it is estimated that there will be a return from settlers on irrigated lands amounting to about $1,000,000.

We hear a good deal of complaint against the quite general practice which road supervisors have when working on the highway with road graders of leaving an incline at either side of the road so steep that it is practically impossible to use a mower in cutting the weeds adjacent thereto. Were the work so done that the slope toward the fence from the bottom of the ditch was not more than twenty-five or thirty degrees there would be no ground for the complaint as made, and the matter of keeping the highway looking neat and shipshape would be immensely simplified.

An Iowa granger of a scientific and exploring turn of mind, who seems to have a special grudge against the quack grass which has infested portions of his farm, this season dug up roots of the plant and hung them on the fence exposed to the sun, with a view to determining how long the roots would retain their vitality under these conditions. He found that roots exposed one, two and three days started readily when put in the soil, those exposed four days not so readily; with those exposed five days the sprouting was doubtful, while those which hung on the fence six days were completely done for. His experiment also proved that if covered with a foot of soil the root dies.

SIXTEEN BUSHELS PER ACRE.

There were thrashed this year from a 100 acre field of oats located on a farm but a few miles from the writer's home 1,600 bushels of grain of inferior quality, or an average of just sixteen bushels per acre. This fact is not mentioned with a view to causing surprise because of the size of the yield, but simply as the basis of a comment or two on the baleful effect of the system of yearly rental of farm property. This farm is in a fertile section of the county, capable with decent treatment of producing seventy-five bushels of corn, fifty bushels of oats and three tons of clover hay per acre. The pitiable showing mentioned above is the result of years of shiftless management on the part of the landlord, coupled with a system of tenancy which has consisted in selling the fertility from the farm in the shape of grain and hay, with the result that today the farm is an agricultural bankrupt, fertility lost, credit gone and reputation badly damaged. As might be expected under such a system of management, quack grass has gained such a foothold that neighbors estimate that if it were all in one patch it would cover from forty to sixty acres of the total area. As a consequence no self respecting and prudent tenant will rent the farm on any terms; hence the other kind get it, and quite naturally the deplorable conditions mentioned tend to grow cumulatively worse. Such handling of fertile, responsive soil is no less than an agricultural crime, whose punishment is just as sure as that following transgression in the palm of human affairs. Reformation can only be accomplished at the expense of much money and the exercise of long continued care and effort. If regeneration of such a farm is effected it will come through a radical change in methods—stock raising instead of grain selling, a five year instead of a one year system of rental and the raising of clover and application of other fertilizers instead of the gradual soil robbery which has gone on for twenty years past. It is a matter of congratulation that such farms as the one described are comparatively few, but deplorable that the methods which prevail in the management of so many farms point to the same direction.

ALCOHOL FROM POTATOES.

Professor H. S. Wiley, chemist of the department of agriculture, has recently made public some interesting facts connected with the manufacture of alcohol from corn and potatoes. He states that at present most of the alcohol produced in the country is made from Indian corn, while the next most abundant possible source is the potato—white, sweet or the yam. Some one of these is grown in almost every part of the United States, and they constitute a cheap yet convenient source of manufacture. In the manufacture of alcohol from potatoes the tubers are first reduced to a fine pulp, mixed with water and the starch converted into sugary matter by heating with an acid. After the conversion of starch into sugar, fermentation takes place. This is usually conducted in large wooden vats of a size to correspond to the magnitude of the distillery. Once started, fermentation proceeds rapidly and is usually completed within forty-eight or seventy-two hours. From this point the alcohol is distilled in the same manner as that derived from corn or other products. Professor Wiley warns against individual attempts to manufacture alcohol and expresses the opinion that the manufacture will have to be carried on by distilleries located at points easily accessible to those raising large quantities of corn, potatoes and other raw materials.

FARM READING.

With the long evenings of winter soon coming on, it is time to begin making plans for the winter's supply of reading matter, including books, magazines and papers. With the great variety of periodicals that can be got at low prices in connection with the many clubbing offers that are made by one's home and outside papers there is really no excuse why any town or farm home should be destitute of interesting and up to date reading matter. The bald facts are that a good many children do not like to stay at home evenings because there is little there to attract or interest them, and there is no way in which this difficulty can be more readily corrected than in that indicated above. In addition to the home paper and a good agricultural paper or papers, there should be a wholesome family weekly, which should contain something of interest for every member of the family. And there should be one or more good monthly magazines, of which the variety is large and the quality excellent. If this plan is carried out and a game board is provided, we see no good reason why the members of the family circle should not spend many a happy evening when the weather is cold and forbidding without. If the home has not been all that it might have been in the past in these respects, would it not be well worth while to inaugurate a change and see if it does not give large returns?

Morton's Memory.

An Englishman named Morton could repeat from memory any discourse he had once listened to, while Schenkel, the inventor of one of the "Arts of Memory," could repeat 300 arbitrarily connected words and over 200 sentences, all in the exact order in which he had heard them. A Sussex man named William Wolton had a marvelous memory. When a child he could remember almost any sermon he heard and once repeated to the bishop his sermon word for word. He took his B. A. at Cambridge when only twelve years and five months old.—London Graphic.

The pretty lingerie collars which are so much worn at present are a very fetching and economical style, and every girl will find them a great convenience. Four very pretty models are sketched, which may be worn with any blouse or dress and serve to dress it up wonderfully. The deep, pointed collar goes on over the head and is made of lace and mull. The second is of embroidered linen or silk and may trim any plain waist. The fancy collar is embroidered and edged with lace, but it may be made of any material to suit the wearer. The plain, pointed collar may be cut all in one piece and open at the side in front. It would make a smart finish for a linen or cloth dress. The material required for each collar in the medium size is five-eighths of a yard of eighteen or twenty-seven inch material. No. 4062, sizes, 4 to 16 years.

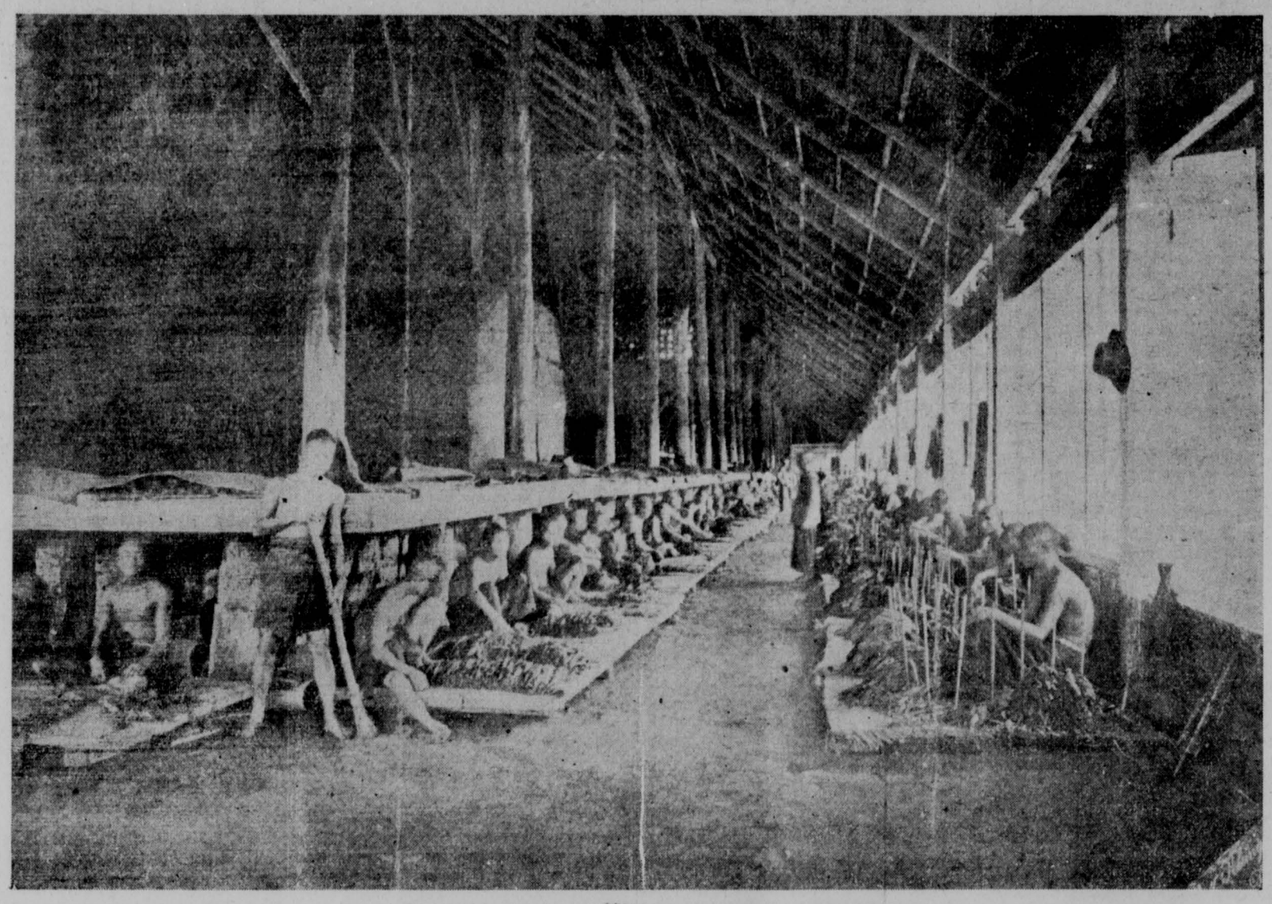
Navy Men Favor Invention.

Caid H. Peck, superintendent of the C. F. Kellogg Imperial Tool works of Athens, has perfected and applied for patents of a device for lifting heavy ammunition which, when shown to the navy department was approved and will probably be adopted. Mr. Peck has built a full size model of his machine, which government experts will come to Athens to see in a few days. It is said that navy men who have inspected the contrivance of the Athens man, see in it the solution of a problem which has long been a puzzle on board the big battle ships. The matter of lifting the heavy shells, especially the 12 and 13 inch projectiles has never been accomplished by machine as it should, and the invention of Mr. Peck seems to be destined to fill a long felt want.



INTERIOR OF A PHILIPPINE TOBACCO FACTORY.

When the Philippine Tariff bill was before the House, Congressman Lilley refused to support it, giving as a reason that he objected to having his friends and neighbors, who wore clothes and educated their children, brought into competition with half-naked Filipinos, who worked for a few pennies per day, and who were not obliged to incur any of the expenses incident to civilization. In his letter of acceptance Mr. Kipp criticises Mr. Lilley for his opposition to the bill, from which it is fair to infer that he would vote for it.

RIVAL TEAMS PLAY GREAT TIE GAME.

Towanda and Athens High School Men Unable to Score a Point.

Outweighed, apparently, more than five pounds to a man, but fired by the encouragement of a big crowd of fair admirers, the Towanda High school foot ball team played the strong Athens team to a standstill Friday afternoon, no score having been made at the end of the last half. The entire game was a splendid exhibition of good, clean, manly foot ball and Principal Humphries of the High school congratulated both captains at the end of the contest.

When the Athens team, accompanied by two score of loyal supporters, arrived, the hopes of Towandians fell, for the team looked much more formidable than that of the local school. But after the first down, it became clear that a close score would result. Towanda won the kick-off, and were slowly driven away from Athens' goal by a series of hard rushes. The ball was driven close to Towanda's five-yard line before the home team got possession of it, and then, because of a fumble due to a low pass by Towanda's center, Cox, Athens had the only chance in the game to score. In three downs, however, Towanda kicked out of danger, Captain Smith making a cool and careful drive, with good support. The first half ended with the ball in the center of the field.

The second half was a repetition of the first. The line bucking of Smith for Towanda and Andrews for Athens, and the tackling of Strong of Towanda and Griswold of Athens, were features. The referees were Hulett Turner of Towanda, and John Mee of Athens. The line-up:

Another Pool Held to Court.

Tuesday afternoon a good representation of the Pool family was present in Justice Orcutt's court, when the case of Andrew Vanderpool was called for a hearing. Andrew was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Ida, who charged desertion. Attorney, S. H. Smith, represented the plaintiff, and William Maxwell the defendant ;after considerable evidence the justice decided to hold Andrew to court.

D. AND H. IMPROVEMENTS.

This Railroad Will Spend Six Millions Near Scranton.

The Delaware and Hudson compnay will spend on improvements in the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valleys no less than $6,000,000 within the next two years. Part of this development now in progress is the four-tracking of the road North of Scranton to aCrbondale, a distance of 11 miles, and the regrading of the whole division, so that the maximum grade will not exceed 24 feet to the mile where it now reaches of much as 90. Besides this there will be the building of an entirely new line of double-track road from a point near Moosic to a connection with its Plymouth branch South of Wilkes-Barre.

This will be known as the "cut-out," and will pass directly through Pittston city, Plainsville and other towns not now reached by the road. It will do away with the leased tracks of the Lehigh Valley through Wilkes-Barre to its Plymouth branch, and will make positive the Pennsylvania railroad connection at Buttonwood, South of Wilkes-Barre, where big yard improvements are now under way. Twenty-six new locomotives have been ordered, new passenger coaches will be put in service on this division and 2,000 additional coal cars are now being built for the company.

Waverly Free Press Sold.

A report from Waverly is to the effect that the Waverly Free Press, a weekly newspaper, founded 50 years ago, and for the past 12 years conducted by Genung & Smith, has been sold, the purchaser being Fred Appleget of Heightstown, N. J., a young man who for some years has been a close personal friend of Assemblyman Byram Winters, the man elected on the Republican ticket a year ago, and whom the county committee are now fighting, because of factional differences. There is little doubt that the real purchaser of the old Free Press is the present assemblyman, whose home is in Smithboro, and who is worth several million dollars.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's new novel will begin in the November Century and run through the entire year. The illustrations are being made by Greiffenhagen.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York.

The bride wore a Princesse robe of white chiffon crepe de chene with exquisite trimmings of Mecklin lace and pearl ornaments. Her long tulle veil was caught with a rare wreath of old orange blossoms and she carried bride's roses.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ruggles, son Brewster and daughter Dorothy of Towanda; Mr. and Mrs. John Ruggles and daughter Helen, of Athens; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Shaw, of Detroit, Mich.; Horace B. Pomeroy, New York.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fayette B. Pomeroy tendered their brother and his wife a dinner at their home, "Stone Acres," at which only the immediate family were invited.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pomeroy left on the evening train for New York, Washington and Philadelphia, and on their return will occupy their beautiful country home "Pomeroy Place," near Troy.

TROLLEY HEARING DATE IS FIXED.

Railroad Commission Meet at Elmira Oct. 23 to Consider Application.

The second hearing on the application of the Rochester-Corning-Elmira Traction company, which is practically the same as the Rochester & Elmira Electric Railway company, formerly the Rochester & Southern Electric Railway company, will be held in Elmira the forencon of Tuesday, Oct. 23.

While the stock of the company is largely held in Rochester, the control is held by persons identified with Otto Heinze & Co., bankers and brokers, one of the Montana "copper kings," and brother of Otto Heinze, is believed to have a large interest in the company.

May Include Towanda.

This is the road of the Waverly-Corning electric line and is the Eastern extension, and the inference is that the same financiers are connected with the proposition to incorporate Towanda, Owego and Binghamton into the system.

Electrification Under Way.

The work of electrifying the Rochester division of the Erie railroad, between Rochester and Mount Morris, is well under way and being advanced by Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & company, the contractors, as rapidly as conditions permit, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. It was announced several months ago by the Erie railroad officials that the electrification would be completed and the motor cars in operation not later than Oct. 1, but along in August that was revised and it was said that the work would not be completed until November 1. Whether the electric cars will be in operation on the latter date cannot be learned definitely, but the indications are that they will not be. Men employed by Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & company are not permitted to talk or make predictions as to when work on which they are employed will be completed.

Tobacco Big Crop.

At a meeting of the Lancaster County Tobacco Growers' association, it developed that the present season's crop is the finest in many years. While the acreage is about one-fifth larger than last year, growers are realizing from 1,600 to 2,300 pounds per acre and are being offered from 14 to 15 cents a pound. At these figures the farmers will realize from $240 to more than $300 per acre for the crop—more than the land is actually worth. Very little of the money will go outside its borders. A resolution was adopted thanking Congressmen Cassel, Dresser, Lafean, Lilly, Smith and Wagner for their aid in preventing the passage of the Philippine tariff bill. Like conditions on a smaller scale prevail in this county.

Magnificent Industrial Edition.

The Scranton Times on Wednesday of last week issued a splendid industrial edition of 72 pages in honor of the occupancy of its new building, recently completed. It is a remarkable newspaper and covers thoroughly one of the most remarkable industrial sections of the United States. Scranton's manifold business interests are fully and fairly represented, and the whole would be a credit to the best equipped metropolitan dailies. The new home of the Times is a model of convenience and completeness. The congratulations of the publishers of Pennsylvania are due Proprietor Lynett.

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bac, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures hemorrhages, chronic coughs, settled colds and bronchitis, and is the only known cure for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by Turner's Drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.
